TRIED FOR MURDER AFTER FIFTEEN YEARS.

Man Long Free Is Betrayed Through Jealousy After He Had Confessed Identity.

SOMERSET, Ky., Oct. 27.—Richard Taylor was put on trial to-day for a crime committed fifteen years ago and for which he was indicted for murder. He might never have been tried had he not been betrayed by jealousy.

Taylor is charged with the murder of Clay Haynes, at Greenwood, when he was a boy. Taylor was aroused from his bed by three or four drunken men, dragged down the stairs and beaten by them. He obtained a gun and, it is charged, killed one of his assailants.

Taylor escaped and since has wandered in many States. He grew to manhood and has lately been a brakeman. Jealousy caused by a love affair led to his betrayal.

Taylor does not deny the killing. He confessed his identity to the man who betrayed him. Otherwise he would never have been arrested, as search for him had long been abandoned.

ORDERS UNION TO REINSTATE MEMBER.

The Supreme Court Decides Against Brooklyn Butchers Who Expelled George Craemer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Maintaining the right of a man to labor, Judge Garretson, in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, yesterday ordered that Union No. 211, in Brooklyn, of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers' Workmen of North America, reinstate George Craemer, a member, who had been expelled because he refused to pay a fine of $50 and apologize for alleged slandering of Max Ferle, the president.

Craemer declared this action was taken by the union October 21, 1903, and that when he appealed to the international union the officials refused to interfere. When he had been expelled he declares the union served notice on employers that any union shop giving the plaintiff employment would be boycotted. He and his family were thereby forced to suffer, he says, in violation of the constitutions of the State and of the United States.

Judge Garretson upheld the right of labor unions to regulate their own affairs, but he held the action taken to be in violation of the constitution of the union itself, inasmuch as the case pending had not been heard before the proper committee and the charges had not been signed as provided by the by-laws of the union.

Counsel for the defendant was rebuked by Judge Garretson for bringing a large part of his testimony and the records of the union to court without translations. The records were in German and there was delay while an interpreter was being found.

West Knifing Parker.

All through the West the support of the Parker ticket by the Democratic masses is feeble and perfunctory. The policy of the Bryan party this year is precisely the policy of the Cleveland party four years ago. They are going to stand by and see Parker defeated now as the sound money Democrats stood by and saw Bryan defeated then, in order to recover control of the organization from the hands of demoralized and discredited campaign managers.

THE STAGE

"Girls Will Be Girls."

When Joseph Hart was writing the music for "Girls Will Be Girls," he must have been listening to the dicker bird sing, for he has succeeded in supplying it with many bright catchy airs that emanate only from the voice of nature. Many of which will become household melodies. Already many of them are being whistled on the streets. William A. Brady has engaged an excellent company for the production of "Girls Will Be Girls," and the chorus is one of the brightest and best that has appeared in this section during the season. All the original fun makers are still with the company, Al Leech, the Three Rosebuds, and the fifty odd people that have made "Girls Will Be Girls" the musical comedy sensation of the year. "Girls Will Be Girls" will be seen at the Grand Opera House to-night.

One of the most amusing scenes in the big musical production is the cock fight at the close of the second act. Real prize game cocks are used, and while the birds are protected from injuring each other, all the excitement of the real cock fight is indulged in. It is certainly one of the most amusing acts that has been seen on the stage for a long time.

The Red Corpuses.

Shall the possessions of the republic be lessened? Shall its flag cease to float over the Philippines? Judge Parker says yes. So do George F. Edmunds, Carl Schurz and George S. Boutwell, men whom the country thought were dead when the campaign began. They wish the United States to get away from the Philippines and the vicinity of Asia and to throw to the winds the rich territories which are its undisputed property.

That policy does not take with the American who has red corpuscles circulating through his system. Most Americans, though they be middle-aged or old in years, are still young in enthusiasm, vigor, hopefulness, and enterprise. The spirit of youth dominates the country.

Young men resent the timid counsels of decrepit politicians. With their consent the boundaries of the republic will never recede. They are unalterably opposed to contraction.

So viewing the matter from the standpoint of political expediency alone, Judge Parker could not have been guilty of a more stupendous mistake than to make the surrender of the Philippines the predominant issue of his campaign. It is an unpopular issue. It alienates votes. It may appeal to the inert and the incapable who dread the responsibilities of the Philippines, but it is offensive to the lusty youth and manhood of the country which is not for striking the flag.

If Judge Parker had taken the opposite tack, had gone back to the policy of his party half a century ago and proclaimed himself an ardent expansionist, he would have lost the votes and voices of the three venerable relics of other days who are now supporting him. But he would have kept the votes of many more young men now lost to him.

Apparently Judge Parker has no red corpuscles and is not aware of their existence in other Americans. He should study his countrymen more closely before asking them for their votes. The younger ones, at least, have high ideals as to the glory and greatness of their country. They are resolved that nothing shall be done with their consent to decrease its area and lessen its honorable standing among the nations.

November 8 Judge Parker will hear from the red corpuscles.—Chicago Tribune.

CORPS WALKS OFF.

Tired of Lying In an Undertaking Shop, It Buys a Ticket For Home.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Oct. 25.—George Connors, of Thomas, W. Va., was struck by a Baltimore & Ohio fast freight near Savage yesterday afternoon and it was thought was killed. His skull apparently was fractured. He was removed to the undertaking shop of E. J. Fredlock & Co., at Piedmont.

Just about daybreak to-day the "corpse" came to life, and disgusted with the dreary surroundings, Connors picked up his hat and walked to the station, where he bought a ticket for home.

Birthday of Two Presidents. BOGOTA, Colombia, Oct. 28.—Theodore Roosevelt was not the only President of a republic who celebrated his birthday yesterday. President Reyes, of Colombia, celebrated the 44th anniversary of his birth. He received messages of congratulation from all parts of the country.

MONONGAHL.

INTERESTING HAPPENINGS AND DOINGS AT THE UP RIVER TOWN.

Improvements Being Made.

The movement for better streets and walks which was begun a few weeks ago is still going on. A board walk is being built from the end of the Booth's creek bridge as far as the residence of P. H. Flaherty in Brookside addition. When completed this walk will be about 800 feet long. Two additional arc lights have arrived for Brookside addition but they will not be put up until the new light plant is completed as there is hardly power enough now to keep those already up going.

Ducks Living In Peace.

Wild ducks are seen daily on the West Fork. Once in awhile a stray shot is heard in the distance and the poor hunted creatures are seen to fly within the corporate limits of the city. Upon being asked why they stop within the limits Mayor Showalter said: "Here they have found a haven of rest. They look secure and happy since Constable L. C. here the mayor stopped short and would say no more about the matter."

Police Court.

Police court has been very tame this week, notwithstanding the fact that Saturday was pay day. Some three or four of the home fellows were taken up on the charge of plain drunkenness but all had the cash and were willing to spend it for the welfare of the town. Nothing startling has taken place in police circles.

The New Power House.

Monongah's new power house when completed will be the equal of any single plant along the B. and O. from Pittsburg to Cincinnati, according to the statement of a man who is informed in such matters. A part of the machinery is in working order now and by Christmas the whole plant will be in operation. The plants at the surrounding tipples will be turned down and the power will all be furnished from one plant. The total cost of the plant will be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Leonard Vance.

Clyde Leonard and Miss Jennie Vance were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents Wednesday evening by Rev. W. O. David. Mr. Leonard is a popular young man and was formerly on the Monongah police force. Miss Vance is the charming daughter of Col. and Mrs. S. N. Vance.

After the ceremony a large number of boys gathered and gave the young couple an old fashioned serenade. Mr. Leonard placed the money for the treat into the hands of one or two of the larger boys and they started on the run with about fifty small boys after them. For three hours the chase kept up and the citizens of the town thought that a band of Apaches had charged upon the place. Finally the jokers were caught and the boys have pleasant memories of and join with the people of the town in extending best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard.

Dr. Moore Weds.

Druggist W. H. Moore is known to every person in Monongah. A few days ago he went away, no one knew where. Imagine the joy and surprise of his many friends yesterday when a telegram arrived at the Curry Hotel asking that the best room be prepared, that he was returning from near Wheeling with his bride. He was to come to Fairmont and from there on the street car to this place.

In less than an hour hundreds of the people knew what had taken place and preparations were begun to receive him. Every ear was met during the afternoon and when the couple arrived at a little after four o'clock they were given a rousing welcome. A wagon slightly resembling a wheelbarrow had been decorated with everything from a baby shoe, through the line of patent medicines, to a stick of bologna. A person seeing the cart after it had been fixed up would wonder that the human mind could be capable of such a construction. This was used to carry the baggage to the hotel.

The couple was then allowed to rest, viewing the city from a third story window of the Curry Hotel. But a great storm was brewing. After supper distant sounds of horns and bells could be heard. About eight o'clock the storm burst forth and farmers living in the vicinity grabbed their trusty rifles and ran to the highest hills to see what was wrong. The doctor did the square thing with the boys and for the second time this week the people have extended best wishes to a couple starting into a new life.

WATSON'S THEORY.

Roosevelt Straddles Nothing But War Horse; Parker Everything But War Horse.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Thomas E. Watson, Populist candidate for President, addressed a large audience in the Auditorium last night. In theory he said, he was a sovereign addressing his fellow sovereigns.

"What delightful theory," said the speaker, "and yet if you feel as helpless as I do to-night you deserve the commiseration of all intelligent people."

"Look at the candidates," he said. "Roosevelt straddles nothing but a war horse, and Parker straddles everything but a war horse. If you elect Roosevelt the system stands; if you elect Parker the system does not fall."

HALF A MAN HANGED.

Wife Murderer With One Arm, One Leg and One Eye Executed.

NEWTON, N. J., Oct. 28.—Half a man was hanged yesterday for the murder of his wife. He was Alexander Kiss. He only had one leg, one arm and one eye.

Kiss shot and killed his wife, Anna, at their home in Franklin Furnace last August 6. When Kiss was led out to the gallows he was cool and composed and said he was willing to die.

Kiss ordered his coffin some days ago and afterward insisted on its being taken to his cell so that he could see it if it was all right. After a careful examination he said he thought it was a little too short. He also ordered a tombstone and that was taken to his cell for inspection.

The Real Tax-Dodger.

A prominent Democratic politician, who has been very loud in his denunciation of the new tax laws and who has been stumping the county for his party, should ease up a bit, as his record as a tax-dodger is an interesting one. The gentleman referred to told a prominent Republican the other day that he had loaned a farmer $5,000 and held a deed of trust on his farm for that amount. He also said that he had loaned another gentleman $7,500 for which he held bank stock as security. The gentleman who received this information was somewhat curious and decided to look up the matter, when he found the deed of trust recorded. He also looked on the tax books and found that the gentleman who was loaning so much money, according to his own testimony, gave only his personal property in at $3,200.

ELEVEN-YEAR OLD TOUGH

Attacks Teacher and Schoolmates With Razor and Gun.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 28.—When ordered to be quiet by a teacher in the Wylie avenue school yesterday Charles Branch, aged 11 years, drew a pair of knuckles from his pocket and made for the instructor. Another pupil interfered, and was dealt a stunning blow.

Young Branch then drew a razor and a revolver and terrorized the entire school, threatening teacher and pupils with death. He was arrested and turned over to the Juvenile court.

The Baby Show.

All is in readiness for the baby show, which will be held in the room adjoining the Bon Ton to-morrow afternoon from two to five o'clock. Everybody is invited to bring the babies, and no one need be afraid that the little ones will contract any contagious diseases, as the room will be thoroughly fumigated.

The babies getting the largest number of votes will get the prizes. The prizes are very handsome, and your baby may get one of them. Besides you will be helping a good cause.

Died Last Night.

John Brown, better known as "Dan Boone," an employe of the Schumacher agency in this city, died at 11:30 o'clock last night, of cirrhosis of the liver. He was the son of the late William Brown, and was born and reared in what is now the First ward. He was thirty-seven years of age and single. His mother, Mrs. Julia Brown, and several brothers and sisters, survive him.
